NUMBER 31.

ORPHANS HOME FUND GOES OVER THE TOP.

Good Garrard County People Show The Way.

The children of the public schools of Garrard County have been granted their wish to help build a Home for those less fortunate than themselves.

Over $1500.00 has been given to the Kentucky Orphans Home Society by the generous people of the County. The exact amount will be published in the Central Record next Thursday, as all the contributions are not yet in.

The Management of the Campaign desires to thank all—from the tiniest tot who put his penny in the box with a smile, to those who were able to give their dollars—and DID.

Nothing is ever accomplished worth while for a public cause without the co-operation of the people as is shown in this campaign. And what could be more worthy than this Orphans Home or any Orphans Home.

Those who saw the beautiful picture shown this week entitled "Daddy Long Legs" were given an idea of what may be done with an orphan child if given a chance. We are glad to find so many big hearted citizens in the county who are willing to help in a good cause.

E. DUNN WILL

Probated Last Monday.

Entire Estate Goes To Watkins Children.

The last will and testament of Mr. Erasmus Dunn was probated in the County Court last Monday morning.

The instrument is dated January 6th, 1906 and was witnessed by R. E. McRoberts and H. Clay Hamilton of this city.

In the first paragraph he directs that all his just debts and funeral expenses be paid.

He then bequeaths to his wife, Mary E. Dunn, all his household and kitchen furniture and such farming implements as she desires, all the poultry, two cows and calves, of her own selection, 10 head of hogs and sufficient provender to support same for at least one year, and in addition leaves her during her natural life, 200 acres of land including residence and all outbuildings, to be cut off of the East side of the farm and known as the Bettis tract. After her death he bequeaths said 200 acres to "Anne E. Watkins and her children, now in existence or that may hereafter be born to her."

In the third paragraph he directs his executor to put up a monument on the lot where his father, mother, brothers and sisters are buried in the Lancaster cemetery, to cost not less than $1,500 and inscribe on said monument "that same was erected by E. Dunn, Jr."

He also directs that his executor have a monument erected to cost from $2,000 to $2,500 put up on deceased lot in the Lancaster cemetery where his wife and two children are buried.

The will states if there is not sufficient personal property to pay all debts and funeral expenses and erect the monuments, the executor is directed to sell sufficient amount of real estate to pay same, suggesting that forty acres or more be cut off from the Bettis tract for this purpose.

In paragraph five all the residue of his estate both real and personal, he gives and bequeaths to Anne E. Watkins and her children, those now living or that may be hereafter born to her.

In the sixth and last paragraph he appoints R. H. Tomlinson his executor to execute and fully carry out the provisions of the will.

The estate of Mr. Dunn is considered by some to be worth, nearly $150,000, consisting of about 650 acres of land lying immediately on each side of the Danville and Lancaster pike and about two miles from Lancaster.

Mrs. Anne E. Watkins was the wife of William Watkins and died about seven years ago leaving five children, namely: Guy, Irvin, James L., William D. and Adolph. These boys being the sole beneficiaries of the estate. Their mother was a great niece of the deceased and lived with him during her young girlhood.

CORN AND TOBACCO FAIR.

Error In Premium List.

We wish to correct an error in the premium list of the Corn and Tobacco Fair, which says that "all exhibits except first prize exhibits of corn and tobacco become the property of the Fair Association." It should read that "only the exhibits of the first prize winners become the property of the Fair Association." This is only on the Corn and Tobacco exhibits and all other exhibits are returned to owners.

Enormous preparations are being made for the best fair of this character ever held in Central Kentucky. Contracts were closed last week for the interior decorations of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse, where the fair will be held, these decorations alone, costing the association $1,300.

Write R. T. Peddicord or Robert Kinnaird for premium list and catalogue which will be out in a few days.

Auction Sale.

The United Realty Company of Lexington have just completed arrangements to sub-divide and sell at auction the J. R. Payne farm of 127 acres on the Gooch pike one mile from Point Leavelle. This farm has a splendid 5 room cottage and is one of the best watered farms in the county, with 127 acres of good level land that will raise tobacco, hemp or anything you want to put on it. See the advertisement in this issue of the paper.

BUMPER CROWD

Politics And Business Here Last Monday.

Decidedly the largest crowd seen here at any previous Court Day was on hand last Monday. The town was literally alive with mules and men. The public square would not begin to hold the automobiles and they were "parked" out every street to the intersection of the first crossing. The change in the hour, brought many to town by eight o'clock.

Good mules were in great demand but not many on the market and only a few of this class sold. There was no demand for the inferior kind. Hundreds of mule colts were here and only a few of these sold as the demand was light.

Politics was the talk of the day and many came to hear Governor Black who was billed to speak, but was detained at Frankfort on account of important business that he couldn't leave.

He was well represented however by Hon. James Garnett, of Louisville, who spoke for nearly two hours to an audience that filled the court house to overflowing. His speech was loudly applauded many times and pronounced by many as the best they had heard here in any month.

He was introduced by Mr. J. E. Robinson. The Lancaster Cornet Band furnished some delightful music and greatly added to the enthusiastic occasion.

W. H. HIGGINS

Prominent Merchant of Stanford, Dies Suddenly.

The people of Stanford and community were thoroughly shocked when it became known early yesterday morning, that Mr. W. H. Higgins one of the most prominent, prosperous and popular business men of Stanford had died suddenly about six o'clock that morning.

He had gotten up as usual we are told, made the fire and had gone to the barn to feed his horse and it was not until his lifeless body was found by a colored boy was the fact known that he had suddenly passed away.

He was in Lancaster Tuesday afternoon and was mingling with his friends here and apparently in the best of spirits, and seemed pleased that he had re-purchased the store he had recently sold to Mr. Frazier Hurt.

He is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral services will be conducted Friday and burial will take place in the Buffalo cemetery at Stanford.

"FLYING SQUADRON"

To Be In Lancaster To-night.

It is a rare privilege of Kentucky to have a "Flying Squadron" come through our state in the interest of the prohibition campaign.

The speaker will be Dr. Lynn Williams, known as the "Fighting Parson" and the singer, Mr. Waring, both of Chicago. They are a very attractive combination and will reach Lancaster this afternoon about six o'clock. They will address the people at the court house immediately after the speaking of Hon. Rufus Hardy, who has been billed to speak at this hour for several weeks.

WANTED:—About forty head of 1000 pound feeding cattle. J. E. Robinson.

Hon. Rufus

HARDY

Congressman from Texas

Will speak in the interest of Democratic ticket at the Court House Tonight

THIRD ROLL CALL

For Local Red Cross Chapter.

All Plans Arranged And Organization Formed For Garrard County's Work.

The American Red Cross has issued its Third Roll Call for November 2 to 11th and Dr. V. G. Kinnaird has offered his services as chairman of the Roll Call for Garrard county and the complete list of his organization appears below. If it were possible for Dr. Kinnaird to enlist the services of the members of the "American Legion" the success of this call is assured from the start.

The campaign this time is for membership only, no donations will be asked and fifty per cent of the money raised in the membership Roll Call goes to the American Red Cross and fifty per cent goes to the local Red Cross Chapter.

Red Cross Peace Work.

While the war work for the Red Cross is not finished and will be carried on, the Third Roll call will devote its strength mostly to peace work. And let no one think that because peace has come there is nothing vital to do. The greatest problem facing America today is its health—the vitality of its people. This was brought out in a startling way when our young men and young women were examined for army service. So many could not serve because they were physically unfit. This better health problem will have to be solved by the nation before the social and economic problems can be solved.

A large part of the diseases of the world are preventable diseases. The Red Cross of the leading nations is the agency through which the task of overcoming preventable disease should be carried on. In America the health situation is a grave one. Disease is undermining the vitality of the people. It is the great mission of our Red Cross to war on disease. It is the problem to which the American Red Cross proposes to devote itself in the future.

Following are the names of those who have agreed to assist in this great work and upon whom the Garrard County Chapter depends to carry the THIRD ROLL CALL "Over the top".

MASONIC BENEFIT

Local Lodge Has Many New Members.

There will be exhibited at the Roman Opera House next Wednesday night, a picture that will interest every Mason in Garrard county, one just out, giving in reproduction a splendid picture of the Old Masonic Home at Shelbyville and many of its present members. The admission charge will be small and as the proceeds go to this worthy old home we feel that every Mason and many others in the county will see it.

The local Mason Lodge was never in a more prosperous condition than at present, many new members having been added within the last month.

Last Tuesday night they had a class of six for the Entered Apprentice and eleven for the Fellowcraft degree one month hence. Those in the class last Tuesday night were; Ben Woods, Shirley Hudson, T. L. Hignite, Ed Seale, J. C. Miller and Glass B. Carrier.

TOBACCO

TO BE HIGH.

Lancaster Market Should Be The Best In The State.

Warehouse About Completed.

Every indication points to one of the finest tobacco crops ever raised in Garrard county and from the encouragement received by the directors and stock-holders of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse from the growers of this and adjoining counties, there seems no reason why the local market here should not be the banner market of the state.

Garrard county has long been known as the best tobacco county in the state, the weed from this county always bringing the top prices on every market on which it has been sold, and with the present fine crop raised this year and being sold over the local brakes, it is not unreasonable to suppose that our market should not top any in the state.

Last year the farmers of this county lost something like $100,000 by selling to "pinhookers," taking their tobacco to the markets of Lexington, Danville and Richmond and seeing their crop sold for double what they were paid and in some instances trebled. The farmers and tenants are getting wise now and they don't propose to be caught "napping" again.

In ten days the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse will be completed and when done will be the best one in the state. It is just about the size of the "Public Square" in Lancaster and 125 wagons can easily be accommodated within its doors. Every pound sold can be prized in the huge building and loaded into the cars on the switch owned by the company, and which accommodates nineteen cars.

Plenty Of Buyers.

Messrs L. G. Davidson, John M. Farra and R. L. Burton have just returned from North Carolina and Virginia and report tobacco on these markets bringing fabulous prices, bringing home samples that brought more than one dollar a pound.

These gentlemen while there succeeded in contracting with several buyers, among them, J. P. Taylor and Company, P. Lorillard and Company, R. J. Reynolds Company, American Tobacco Company, Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, Buckley and Saunders, W. R. Hampton Company and G. O. Tuck Tobacco Co.

Some competitive propaganda has been going over the country, to the effect that the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse Company would not be able to secure the buyers. This should knock that into a "cocked hat", for all of the above will be here and many more, as soon as the proper pricing rooms can be arranged for them.

The gentlemen who visited North Carolina, inform us that in conversation with Mr. William Reynolds of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company he told them that Garrard County tobacco was used exclusively in their "Prince Albert" smoking tobacco and that it would give him great pleasure in sending one of his best buyers to this market. Now that's the word with the "bark" on it and goes to show that Garrard county tobacco is known all over the country. Can you doubt for a minute that the buyers will not be on the floors of the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse?

Attention.

All discharged Marines, Sailors and Soldiers, white, who have received on honorable discharge are requested to meet with us on Friday night for matters of importance are to come before you.

The following named men are especially asked to be present, Dr. J. M. Acton, Messrs C. B. Acton, Alan and Chas. B. Doty, Elmer Miller, Homer Murphy Robert and John Gill Kinnaird, A. D. Joseph, Storey Horron; T. J. Price, Jr., B. C. Ford, Charles Thompson, Willie Mac Elliott, Cecil Brown, Billy F. Miller and Benjamin Wood.

This meeting will be held in the City Police Room Friday Night, Oct. 31st, 1919, at 7:30 SHARP.

"COME".

Virgil G. Kinnaird,
Post Commander.

Have you sent to Billy F. Miller that card telling him what part you play in the Great American World's Righteous War. If not you had better do so at once, as these records will be valuable to you when you reach that ripe old age of 50 to 55 years (?)

Elect Gov. Black Tuesday

Kentuckians! The issues are clear! On its record in State and Nation, a united Democracy asks you to answer these questions by your votes on Tuesday, November 4th.

Will a Ringing Message of Cheer go to that sick chamber in Washington, or will Kentucky go under the cloud of support of those men who are seeking to discredit America's Greatest Statesman, purely for partisan Reasons?

Will Kentucky go forward to four years of progress under the able leadership of Governor James D. Black, or will it become a pawn in the hands of A. T. Hert, whose sole use for our State is the furtherance of personal ambition?

Morrow's Todays Are All Yesterdays

Seemingly, he does not know that it is Gov. Black who is his opponent in the present race. His entire campaign has been one of "what he would have done."

He has said he would have kicked out the School Book Commission, though even he must have known that that would have made him a lawbreaker. The question naturally arises—would he, as governor, care for the laws of the state?

He has criticized the new tax law, though he knows that he gave it his endorsement and that it bears the name of a fellow Republican. Not he—but Gov. Black, instead—has made constructive criticism of this law.

He has continually talked of "cleaning house at Frankfort" and charged the maintenance of useless offices—yet to repeated demands he has not dared name one charge against any man nor specifically state one office he considered useless.

Far Out of Step With Kentucky's Progress

Morrow has gone far back to Augustus E. Willson's administration for comparison of expenditures. By doing this, he has shown a lamentable lack of knowledge of the costs of today and of the yesterday in which he has been living.

He has shown, too, a surprising lack of knowledge of the onward sweep of progress that Kentucky has been making.

Seemingly he does not know that since Gov. Willson's term a Good Roads Department has been established and it has built 1,740 miles of good roads, at a cost to the state of $3,040,911.00.

Seemingly he does not know that Kentucky now has 13,000 rural schools while under the Willson administration there were but 8,000. Is it any wonder $2,800,000 more has been spent for educational purposes?

Not Too Late, Judge!

Judge Bethurum, it is not too late! You publicly stated that you would withdraw the Republican nominee could it be shown that he had a hand in the tobacco cases of Grant County.

At the same time your candidate was admitting that he wrote a letter opposing the pardon of the five farmers convicted. You need not even take his word for it. Attorney General Palmer will tell you, as he has told all of Kentucky in a published letter, that the files in his office at Washington show that Morrow did oppose the pardon that was rightfully granted these men.

Make good your word. Your candidate's guilt is proven. It is up to you.

Ballard Self-Confessed Profiteer

Thurston Ballard, the multi-millionaire president of Ballard Mills, of Louisville, was the man chosen by A. T. Hert for his hand-picked Republican ticket as the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. A close personal and business friend of Mr. Hert's, with ample funds at his disposal for campaign purposes, it is easy to see why he was chosen for as the nominee for this office.

Admits Selling His Flour at $1.10 Less in New Orleans Than in His Own State.

This is the man who is running with Mouthpiece Morrow at the head of the Republican ticket—the man who, by his own admission, pleaded guilty to being a profiteer. Not satisfied with profiteering, the defense he made of his action is a slap at the people of Kentucky. The reason he gave is that he sells his flour for cash in New Orleans—as though Kentuckians could not pay cash!

Black Fights For the League of Nations But Morrow Only Equivocates!

The Republican nominee is already listening to "His Master's Voice." To Gov. Black's repeated challenges as to his stand for or against the League of Nations, he has given only evasive answers. He dare not face the issue fairly and squarely.

Yet is there anyone who doubts that the election of Morrow will be hailed by Republicans as a victory in their fight in opposition to the League of Nations.

Elect Morrow governor and they will come out from under cover and in glaring headlines announce that Woodrow Wilson's stand for civilization has been repudiated.

By their evasion they stand against it—they make it an issue.

Kentucky gave nearly three thousand of her sons to make the world safe for democracy. Will their lives have been given in vain? Will Kentucky continue to uphold the hands of Woodrow Wilson, to whom the peoples of the world are looking for leadership? Your votes Tuesday will decide.

Shall A. T. Hert Rule Kentucky?

Hark to What Chairman Rhea Said of A. T. Hert, the Republican "Boss" of Louisville, in His Speech at the Opening of the Democratic State Campaign at Hopkinsville.

"Shall A. T. Hert, lately of Indiana, now of Kentucky, be allowed to name the members of the State Tax Commission? Shall he and his millions dominate the politics of this state for the next four years? This is the most vital issue facing the people of the State today."

"Shall Mr. Hert, with the aid of Thurston Ballard, the profiteer, and the other millionaire candidates on the Republican ticket, be allowed to take over the State government outright? Behind Mr. Morrow's booming voice is the cunning hand of Hert. Morrow is the mere mouth-piece for Hert. The voice is that of Jacob, but the hand that of Esau. Shall Hert build a bridge from the Louisville City Hall to the State Capitol? Shall the Louisville Republican machine extend its sway to Frankfort?"

DO KENTUCKIANS WANT TO SEE HIM USE THE GOVERNOR'S MANSION AS A STEPPING-STONE TO WASHINGTON?

600 ACRES OF FINE LAND AT AUCTION

The Charles Dietrich Place, at Buena Vista, in Garrard County, the land that produces the finest tobacco known, subdivided in tracts 50 acres and up,

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7

10:30 A. M. RAIN OR SHINE!

Here is a proposition that will appeal to the buyer who intends making THE LAND PAY FOR ITSELF or the buyer who is looking for a big percentage on his investment, without taking into consideration any increase in value which may accrue. This magnificent farm is only 3 miles from Bryantsville, 10 miles from Nicholasville, and 12 miles from Lancaster and Danville. The land is unusually productive. 150 ACRES IN BLUE GRASS, 200 ACRES SOWED IN WHEAT AND RYE, 4 TOBACCO BARNs, 5 SMALL HOUSES, 1 GOOD STOCK BARN AND IS WELL WATERED THROUGHOUT.

It lies about 1 mile from the Lexington and Danville turnpike, on a new turnpike, and what we wish to mainly impress on you is that with land values as high as they are everywhere, and going higher every time the sun sets, here is an owner who has no exorbitant ideas or expectations as to the price of this land. His only reason for selling the farm is that he is centering his interests in Nicholasville and he has not instructed us to "shoot if we can get his price," but he has employed us to SELL and instructed us to SELL IT. Consequently, we think that this is the best opportunity presented this year for the man who wishes to get land at a reasonable price and at the same time obtain soil that is as productive as any in Kentucky. The neighborhood is excellent, and the property is close to a number of good markets.

Get in on the ground floor and ride the prosperity wave that is sweeping this grand United States of America, the greatest country on earth. The man who bets against the future of AMERICA will lose, the man who bets on its future is BOUND TO WIN!

This farm has been well taken care of, and to show you that Mr. Dietrich has confidence in the dividend earning power and in the character of the soil, he will give you FIVE LONG YEARS in which to pay for it.

So be on hand promptly Friday morning of the 7th, and do not lose an opportunity that may never be presented to you again.

LOOK OUT FOR CANARDS.

Democrats and dry Republicans of Kentucky, who already have made up their minds to support the Democratic State ticket headed by Governor James D. Black, are cautioned to look out for eleventh-hour canards on the eve of the election. The Republican charge against the Board of Control about coal being sold to the Houses of Reform by Tom Hatcher and a blower being required to make it burn, as well as cloth being sold to the institution at exorbitant prices, which was exploded by the statement of the Board of Control and the affidavits of the men said to have been interested, is on a par with other charges made by the desperate and reckless Republicans. It has been said that these reckless charges are being made with a view to putting some "pep" into the decaying Republican campaign throughout the State and arousing some interest in a matter the voters already have practically decided.

There is only one thing that can cause the defeat of Governor Black November 4th and that is the failure of the Democrats of Kentucky to go to the polls and vote. It is not likely that any of them will fail to do that. With a Republican majority in the United States Senate doing all it can to harass and bedevil the sick President, fighting the peace treaty and the League of Nations, and a with a few notable exceptions, Republican candidate in Kentucky who refuses to take a stand on that question, it is fatuous to say that the League is not an issue in the election. Let every man, Democrat or Republican, who wants to back the President in his schemes to end war for all time, make it a point to vote early in November 4 and vote a ticket that will uphold in Kentucky, so far as they may have the power, the plans of President Wilson for the permanent peace of the world.

EASIER NOW THAN LATER.

It is easier to break up a cold or check a cough now than it will be later. Persistent coughs that "hang on" all winter pave the way for serious throat and lung diseases. L. W. Day, 65 Campbell Ave., E. Detroit, Mich. writes, Foley's Honey and Tar relieves one of bronchitis very quickly.

FOOT BALL

Paint Lick Defeats State Normal.

The Paint Lick High School eleven defeated Eastern Kentucky State Normal, Tuesday, on the E. K. S. N. gridiron by a score of 7 to 0. P. L. H. scored one touchdown and kicked goal.

The playing of Ledford, half-back, and Patrick, fullback featured for Paint Lick team the Paint Lick boys also displayed excellent team work throughout the contest. E. K. S. N. played a good game, but they were not equal to the skill displayed by the Paint Lick representatives. Both teams put up a clean game.

REV. L. L. PICKETT

Heard At Court House Tuesday Night.

Unfortunately only a small crowd came out last Tuesday evening to hear Rev. L. L. Pickett, an orator of national reputation and one of the big guns behind the prohibition movement. Those who heard him were indeed fortunate. He argues that everyone should be sure and get the ballot on the Amendment to the Kentucky constitution, prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in the state.

Part of his address along this line was as follows:

"The people of Kentucky are a decent, law-abiding people; but we have among us a lawless element, as have the good people of other states. The best element of our people as a rule have made up their minds to wipe out the liquor traffic. There is undoubtedly a very large majority of our red-blooded Kentuckians who want state-wide and national honest prohibition."

Now we have a vote on an amendment to the Kentucky Constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the state, on November 5th. Many voters are not aware of this fact. Tell them. Help us spread the good news.

Also, take notice of the fact, that the prohibition amendment is on a separate ballot. There is an amendment that would recall unfaithful officials that is printed on the official ballot. We hope you will vote "YES" on that amendment also. But it is not the prohibition amendment. For that you must have the separate ballot. Vote "YES" on both these amendments.

"If I had time I would be glad to give you many reasons why I urge this. But I shall trust your good judgment, your patriotism, your hatred of drunkenness, your love of God and country to lead you to help us in the state, national and world struggle for decency and righteousness. Let Kentucky set the world a good example by showing John Kaiser Boozelcorn under a mountain of ballots that will count out a clear handed thousand dry majority next Tuesday. This for Jesus and humanity's sake."

PYORRHEA.

It has been said that 90 per cent of all extractions were due to pyorrhea. Pyorrhea is a very insidious disease for it does not manifest itself by pain. In fact, unless discovered by the dentist, people do not usually realize that they have it until the teeth become loose and sore, and then it is frequently too late to save them.

Teeth without the least sign of decay loosen in the socket, pus exudes from around the roots and gums, the gums are highly inflamed and bleed to the touch, the teeth finally become loose and are tender to pressure. They finally become so loose that they have to be extracted, and if neglected long enough, finally fall out.

Anything which sets up an irritation of the gums around the teeth may cause pyorrhea. No doubt the most constant cause is deposits of tartar about the teeth, but had contact points which allow food to wedge between the teeth, ill-fitting crowns, fillings which press against the gum and any injury to the gums are all contributing factors in the causes for pyorrhea. Bacterial invasion may follow any of these causes, pus is formed, the fibers of the periodontal membrane are destroyed and we have pyorrhea.

As stated above the deposit of tartar is the most common cause. The formation of deposits around the necks of the teeth set up an irritation, causing a recession of the gums, which is followed by the formation of pus. Deposits of tartar are most frequently found near the ducts where the saliva is discharged into the mouth. No doubt an excess of food is a factor in pyorrhea, as it causes an increase of calcium salts in the saliva ejected by the salivary ducts, hence the conclusion that an immoderate diet is a strong factor in pyorrhea.

These deposits of tartar should be removed at frequent intervals by the dentist, and the teeth should be thoroughly cleaned and polished.

The patient can accomplish much by mouth hygiene. Mouth hygiene is that care which the individual can and should give the teeth and adjacent tissues. It is a personal duty to nature to cure for the mouth and keep it clean. A good, hard toothbrush used after each meal, brushing in the direction of the long axis of the teeth by placing the side of the bristles against the gums and giving the brush a half turn, is the proper way to use the brush. Silk floss should be used between the teeth and the mouth should be rinsed with a very mild antiseptic solution or plain water. This is the best practical personal method of the application of the principles of oral hygiene.

Oral prophylaxis is the prevention of diseased conditions of the mouth by a scientific dentist. It consists in thoroughly polishing all surfaces of the teeth until they are perfectly smooth and clean. Clean teeth will not decay, neither will they develop pyorrhea.

If every individual could be educated to the necessity of visiting the dentist every three to six months for examination and prophylaxis, there would be few dead teeth, few crowns and bridges, few extractions and much less disease. At such visits all small cavities would be filled, the teeth thoroughly cleaned, tartar removed and the mouth left in a sanitary condition.

IN MEMORY Of Our Little Theo.

On Sunday morning, September 28th, 1919, the Death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Reynolds and took from us our darling little daughter, Theo Booth. She had been complaining several weeks but we never thought of her ailment as being serious. She had a complication of troubles, and for three days and nights before she went away her suffering was intense agony. Oh! how it tore our heart-strings to see our innocent little darling suffer as she did, but the brave little angel bore her suffering with more patience than many grown people. Often, when I was standing over her, weeping, her little quivering lips and longing eyes would look up to me and say "Mama, don't worry". Oh! It seems so impossible to give her up, so impossible to live without her.

She loved us so dearly, all night long the night before she died, about every thirty minutes she called mama and papa so pitiful. It seemed that she did not want to go alone. Oh! How these thoughts thrill our hearts with saddest of grief. Little Theo was an unusual bright little girl, had the knowledge and understanding of much older people. A disposition so kind and lovable, although she was only five years of age she was loved by all who knew her. God never fails to pluck his sweetest flowers first.

Jesus knew she was too pure and sweet for this world of trouble and sin so He took her to live with Him where trouble and cares of life will never come to her. She is now a precious little Angel in Heaven, beckoning mama, papa and little brother each day to live right and be prepared to meet her in that beautiful home above where sorrow and grief are known no more.

Home is so lonely and hours so sad and long since our little darling is gone. No one so keenly feels the loss of her as mama. The hand of time can bring no change to my heart. In years to come I will miss her then as I miss her now. She always helped me do every thing I had to do, but mama's "help" is gone, gone now.

Her precious little angel-like disposition has left an influence in our home which will live forever. Little Theo dearly loved flowers, oftentimes was making little bouquets from mama's flowers. I shall ever hold dear in memory the picture of those beautiful flowers on her little grave, and thank our friends and loved ones who furnished them.

Bro. W. V. Anderson of Stanford spoke words of comfort on this heart rending occasion, where her little remains were laid to rest in Lancaster's beautiful cemetery, there to await the coming of mama, papa and little brother.

Our little Darling is gone, gone, gone, we miss her Oh! we miss her, yes more than words can tell, but tis God who hath bereaved us. He doeth all things well.

No more can we hear her cheerful little voice calling mama day by day. No more can we see her dear little form running to meet papa in the gate-way at night with that sweet smiling face. We miss her at the table, brother misses her at play. We miss her, Oh! we miss her everywhere.

She is now at rest with the Angels in that bright home so fair. God grant each day we live that our hearts and thoughts may be turned Heavenward to our precious treasure there.

PURE SORGHUM SEED BY ROGUEING PLATS

Go Over Field and Carefully
Remove Off-Type Plants.

Work Can Be Done Easily by Man on Foot With Dwarf Varieties, While With Taller Sorts It Is Practical to Use Horse.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In order to obtain pure sorghum seed it is usually necessary to go over the field carefully after it has headed out and remove the rogues or off-type plants. Every plant which does not conform to the type which is desired should be cut down, or, better, pulled up so that there will be no danger of the production of seed from tillers produced by the rogues.

In dwarf varieties the rogueing can be done easily by a man on foot, but in the taller growing sorts it is most practical to ride through the field on horseback so that the workers can see over the top of the field and thus more readily determine the position of the rogues which must be removed. The horse can be securely muzzled to prevent injury other than that occasioned by the tramping down of plants.

It is not profitable to rogue fields which are intended for the production of grain or forage, but in the producing of seed, either for home planting or the market, careful rogueing gives returns both in dollars and cents and in the satisfaction of growing pure seed. Sorghums being open-pollinated are subject to almost endless hybridization if stray plants of other varieties are allowed to mature in the field. This intermixing of varieties results in lack of uniformity in ripening as well as in the size of the plants, thus causing difficulty in harvesting and marketing the crop. The use of pure seed varieties which are known to be adapted to the farmers' climatic conditions will be rewarded in bigger and better crops.

EXAMINE LAND FOR ALFALFA

Frequent Borings Should Be Made
With Auger to Determine Character of the Soil.

In examining a tract of land for alfalfa frequent borings should be made with a soil auger to determine the character of the soil and subsoil as well as the drainage conditions. This instrument usually will be of greater value in determining the adaptability of a particular tract to alfalfa than a chemical analysis of the soil. A common 14-inch auger with the shank lengthened and a suitable crossbar for a handle is practical for this use.

FULL-CROP YIELD OBTAINED

Sufficient Fertilization, Pure Seed and Careful Cultivation Are of Importance.

There are three agents that are sometimes neglected, but through which the full-crop yield can be obtained. They are, sufficient fertilization, pure seed and careful cultivation. The proper use of fertilizer will make the stalks and stems stronger and thus more impregnable to the attacks of vegetable parasites or the spittle of insects. It will give weight, color and size to the fruit and materially hasten maturity.

GOOD STRAWBERRY TILLAGE

Always Run Cultivator or Rake
Through Patch Same Way to Permit Runners to Set.

Let the strawberry runners set at will within the row. In tilling strawberries, always run the cultivator or rake through the same way each time. This allows runners to set which would be uprooted by a reverse tillage. But when a row is matted over two feet deep, stretch a line and chop off and hoe up all outsiders.

REFLECTED GLORY

By MILDRED WHITE.

The man in the business suit came into the brilliantly lighted room, and stood staring nervously about. Far back in a screened corner he espied Abbie Ann and the perplexed frown faded from his face.

"Where is everybody?" he asked in a friendly tone.

Abbie Ann sighed relievedly. Here at last was some one to whom she could speak without a shiver of awe. Abbie Ann was vastly proud of her gifted family, their achievement was her joy, but she was weary of the ever anticipated question:

"Horler?" the one presented would murmur. "Can it be possible that you are related to Elsie Horler the artist?" Or perhaps it would be—"Josephine Horler the musician?"

When Abbie replied that she was a sister the fact never failed to draw an astonished glance in her direction. Abbie Ann wondered wistfully what a real home might be—with a comfortably contented family gathered all at one time about the table. Her sisters were so seldom together. Abbie Ann had not even the consolation of home-making; a housekeeper attended to that. So she spent much of her time in the old garden, dreaming of things which she might do under other circumstances—of the good she might accomplish for others, if opportunity were hers; there seemed to be little here that she could do for even herself.

Her face brightened as the imposing man entered the big, deserted room; she had been tongue-tied before the irreproachable evening dress of the socially prominent. This man, stuffily ill at ease, seemed some way or other to be in her own predicament.

"You are a guest, are you not?" he asked abruptly.

Abbie Ann blushed at his appealing glance toward her simple white frock, and nodded.

"You don't care to dance?" He regarded her curiously.

Abbie Ann shook her head. "So few people want me for a partner," she confessed, "that I'd rather not force them to ask me."

The man grinned; it was a good natured grin. He drew forth a chair and seated himself at her side.

"My name is Perkins," he announced.

Abbie Ann bowed. Instinctively she liked this big, plain man with the humorous eyes.

"Mine is Horler," she responded, and expectantly awaited his question.

"Not," he began—

"Yes," she said. "I am related to Elsie and Josephine. I'm their sister, and I neither paint nor play."

It was the man's turn to interrupt.

"All right," he said, "glad to hear it. Then I shan't be called upon to listen while you perform, or compliment a painting which I don't in the least understand."

For a moment of understanding sympathy the two looked into each other's eyes and laughed.

"You mustn't think that I don't appreciate my sisters," Abbie Ann hastened to add. "It's just because I'm such a nonentity myself that I despise comparison. The only reason that people hear with me at all is because I'm in the family."

"Reflected glory!" laughed the man, "and have you no special desire in your own direction?"

"I'd love," she said, "to have lots and lots of money to spend."

"Well," he thoughtfully reflected, "the wise expenditure of money is an art in itself. Now, suppose," he leaned toward her amusedly, "you were possessed of lots of money; how would you dispose of it?"

Abbie Ann spoke eagerly, shyness and constraint forgotten.

"I'd build a home for poor convalescents," she said, "those you know who must leave hospitals and have no money for further care. And I'd have a big country summer place for ailing children of the poor, and—O!—there are so many splendid things that one might do with money."

"Mr. Perkins!" laughingly called the hostess. "Why did you not announce your presence? As a guest of honor your behavior is inexcusable."

The big man arose.

"Apologies!" he said. "I came here direct from the station, my train being delayed. I did not wish to break in on your frivolities."

Confusedly, Abbie Ann retired to her corner. The proud hostess drew forth the noted Josephine and Elsie for presentation. Elsie sought her out later.

"How in the world?" she asked, "did you become acquainted with Tyron Perkins, the multi-millionaire?"

Abbie Ann's eyes widened.

"You don't mean," she asked incredulously, "that this Mr. Perkins is the millionaire you and Josephine have been so excited over meeting?"

Tyron Perkins himself was beckoning her from the doorway.

"When they dance again," he said, "let's talk things over."

Like a conspirator Abbie Ann nodded back at him.

"I want to hear more concerning your views on the art of spending money," he explained.

"Just dreams!" she murmured regretfully. But the big man smiled.

"Some dreams come true," he reminded.

Again she liked the humorous light in his eyes. But as she stood looking up at him, the humor changed to tenderness.

RED CROSS GIVES FULL ACCOUNTING

War Council Tells How Millions
Contributed by Public Were Used For Relief.

DIG TASK IS DESCRIBED

In Twenty Months $154,000,000 Was Spent Overseas and $119,000,000, in the United States.

Washington, (Special.)—Through a complete report of the work of the American Red Cross in the war by Chairman Henry P. Dawson, on behalf of the war council, the organization on the eve of its annual enrollment of members during the Third Red Cross Ball, November 2 to 4, has rendered an accounting of the many millions given it by the American people to help our fighting men and our allies. The statement is, in part, as follows:

"The war council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the war council was in control of its affairs. The war council was appointed May 13, 1918, and went out of existence February 28, 1919.

"It was the practice of the war council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the war council that a report in this summarized form should be made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

"A statement of the American Red Cross effort and finances since the war council relinquished its control will be made to the public through the executive committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that this report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted."

Following are certain round figures covering American Red Cross participation in the war, as revealed by the war council's report:

KENTUCKY BAPTISTS PUT CAMPAIGN FIRST

Indications Point To Certain
Victory In 75 Million Drive.

Situation There Outlined

Rev. J. R. Black, Publicity Director, Describes Progress
In the Blue Grass State
To Date.

REV. J. R. BLACK

By REV. J. R. BLACK
Kentucky Publicity Director

The organization of Southern Baptists for the raising of 75 million dollars for all phases of work fostered by this people has now been pushed out until all of the 18 Southern states have followed the suggested organization. Kentucky is not behind in the number for in the 75 district associations there are now 70 associational organizers, 74 associational publicity men and 66 W. M. U. organizers. It is the purpose to have one of each of these in each association and then in the local church there will be an organizer in addition to the pastor, who is the director, a W. M. U. organizer and three boosters, who will do the publicity work. The organization has also extended until practically all of the 1850 Baptist churches in Kentucky have these officers in charge and every effort is now being made to bring information and prepare for the great drive which will be made in one week's time, the date of which is November 20th to December 7th.

The state organization is in charge of Rev. O. E. Bryan, Corresponding Secretary of Missions, Louisville, Ky. Prof. John L. Hill, of Georgetown College, State Organizer and Director Georgetown, Ky., and Rev. J. H. Black, Publicity Director, Louisville, Ky. At the general office in Louisville the most encouraging news is being continually received. The people all over the state are so enthusiastic about the campaign that from every quarter responses are now coming and some churches cannot wait for the drive to be made but are now pledging and giving more than was asked of them. The last message received was from Poplar Grove church in Graves county, which was asked for $5,000, and after a sermon by the pastor pledges were made and the amount was more than raised. This has been done in many other places.

The information that is coming to the Baptists is probably one of the greatest benefits that is being derived from the campaign. A pastor in a mountainous association who had been preaching for over thirty years and had always maintained a position against the support of the ministry and who did not believe in missions, stated at the meeting of the district association which he attended that he had learned more in this meeting of what God intended he should do, to send the gospel to the other side, as well as to his neighbor, than in all his life before. A layman who had never given to missions, or much for any object of the church, said he wanted to give $200 a year for the five years of the campaign. A railroad man upon hearing the call gave at once a fifty dollar Victory bond and said this was not to be counted as his part when the drive was made. From these to a great gift of $3,000 by Mr. George E. Hays of Louisville the Baptist people are being reached and are enthusiastic to have a part in the great undertaking.

The one day in October that will be emphasized above all other days is the fourth Sunday, October 26th, which is the day set aside and known as the day for "Calling Out the Called." Kentucky expects to have at least 300 young people to dedicate their lives for special religious work on this day. Ministers, pastors, Sunday School workers, pastors' assistants, and if Y. P. U. workers will hear the call for these different lines of service on this day.

One of the most hopeful signs that the Baptists have is the fact that the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary had on October 1st the largest opening of any in the past three years. The W. M. U. Training School at Louisville had 123 young ladies enrolled for special training. Everywhere the campaign has gotten first place in the thinking of the Baptists, and at this time Kentucky Baptists are going forward to do a little of what they have been waiting many years to do.

R.J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO COMPANY
Winston-Salem, N. C.

A Friendly Errand.

A small Scottish boy entered a tobacconist's, and with the air of an ambassador placed a penny on the counter and requested a packet of cigarettes. The tobacconist, after viewing the customer, pushed his money back to the youth and said: "Aww, and buy a second!" Picking up the coin, the "smoker" took his departure, and in about five minutes returned with a paper bag, which he held up to the shopman, saying: "Here, mister, here's yer money, and give me cigarettes!"

Birth of Red Cross Idea.

The suffering of soldiers in the Crimean war first directed the world's attention to the merit of systematic care for the wounded. In 1859 M. Henri Dunant was visiting Italy and witnessed the carnage of the battle of Solferino. He organized volunteers to help take care of the wounded. Out of his work grew the conference at Geneva, in 1864, and another in 1904. These conferences were the formal beginning of the Red Cross. The name and insignia were adopted. The American Red Cross was organized by Clara Barton in 1881.

Value Enhanced by Time.

"Paradise Lost" netted John Milton. The other day at Southday's famous auction rooms in London a perfect edition of the immortal poem, 1677, sold for $1250.

Beauty.

Talk as we may of beauty as a thing to be chased from marble or wrought out on canvas; speculate as we may upon its colors and outlines; what is it but an intellectual abstraction, after all? The heart feels a beauty of another kind; looking through the outward environment, it discovers a deeper and more real loveliness.—Whittier.

Old Bridge Stood for Centuries.

The new London bridge was opened on August 1, 1920. This replaced the celebrated old bridge, built more than eight centuries before. It had 18 solid stone piers, with bulky stone arches and was covered from end to end with buildings. On the "Father's gate," at one end, the heads of traitors were shown. It was removed on account of its obstruction to navigation.

Prairie Version.

Lots of people live in a dugout of darkness when all they have to do is to punch a hole in the roof and look upward to get light.—Ashland Bingle.

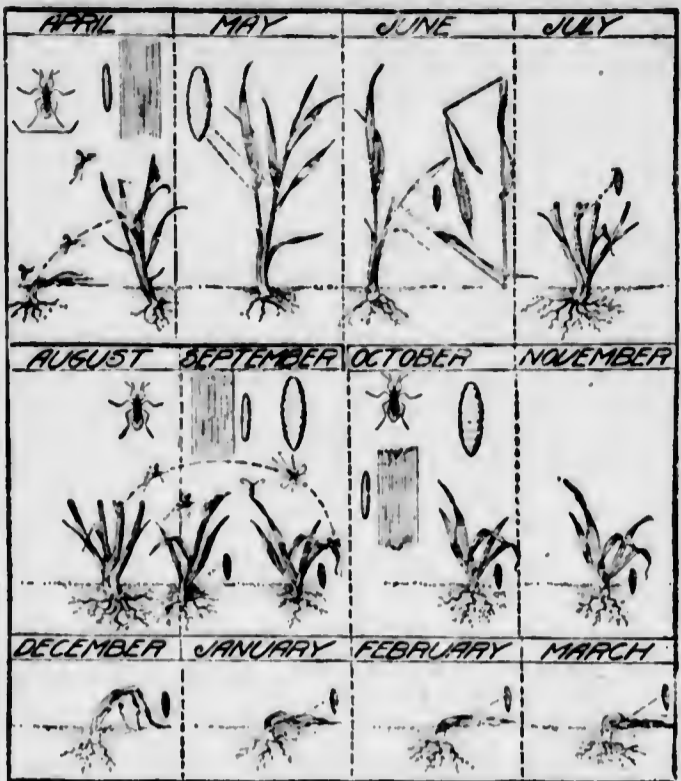

Wanted the Odd One.

Julia was watching her mother pack her father's lunch and kept teasing for a piece of bread and butter. Mother was in a great hurry and told her to wait on her. So Julia counted the slices of bread on the table—there were five—and said: "Mother, give me this one without any partner."

Too Much to Bear.

"Annie," said old Mr. Hinderton as he finished his dinner. "I'm going to ask you to do me a favor. I want you to give your young man, Mr.—Mr.—I forget his name—a message from me." Annie blushed and looked down at her plate. "Tell him," her bluff old parent went on, "that I don't object to his staying here and running up my gas bill, but that I do object to his carrying the morning paper away with him when he leaves!"

WHEAT GROWERS SHOULD WORK TO AVOID LOSSES TO 1920 CROP BY HESSIAN FLY

Development of Hessian Fly From Egg to Adult.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Losses to the winter wheat crop from Hessian fly have been rather wide spread. Losses are reported in the Shenandoah and Cumberland valleys. Straw fallen wheat due to this cause was commonly observed in these regions where the percentage of infestation by the Hessian fly has very materially increased this year. Reports received from the western half of the Mississippi basin also indicate increased abundance of the pest.

No Remedy for Pest.

Growers of winter wheat should put into practice at once measures advocated by the United States department of agriculture to avoid losses to the 1920 crop by the Hessian fly. There is no remedy for the pest when once it takes possession of a crop of wheat. Injury can be prevented solely by keeping the fly out of the wheat. The department experts say the following methods are effective:

Do not sow wheat on stubble if possible to avoid doing so.

Plow under all infested stubble and raised wheat where possible soon after harvest, especially where this does not interfere with the growing of clover and forage grasses.

Destroy all volunteer wheat by harrowing, disking, plowing, or otherwise.

Plow Early and Deep.

Plow all land to be sown to winter wheat as early and deeply as existing conditions permit and prepare a thoroughly pulverized and compacted seed bed.

Conserve moisture against a period of drought at seeding time.

Use the best seed procurable.

Keep the soil in good tillth and, most important of all, sow winter wheat during the fly-free period as advised by local farm advisers or state experiment stations.

Community action in these measures is absolutely essential to complete success.

STORAGE HOUSES IN DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Insulated Potato House Is Best Adapted to South.

Aroostook Type Is Distinctively a Product of Maine and Confined Largely to That State—West Uses Storage Cellars.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The insulated potato house is not used extensively, and as a rule is better adapted to southern than to northern climates. The construction feature of such a house is the thorough insulation of its walls, ceilings, doors and windows. In northern locations such a house must be heated by a stove.

The Aroostook type of storage house, with concrete or masonry walls and wooden superstructure, is distinctly a product of Maine and confined largely to that state. It is expensive and is always located on a side hill or knoll in order that advantage may be taken of a ground level entrance. The basements are usually from 8 to 12 feet deep, and most of them have a capacity of several thousand barrels. Generally the only provision for ventilation is by trapdoors in the floor through which the filling of the bins is completed. Occasionally a ventilator is found in the roof.

These houses, although prevalent in Maine, will never supersede the dugout pit or storage cellar now used in the middle and far western states. Each of these types of storage has distinctive features which peculiarly adapt it to its own environment, but do not necessarily preclude use in other localities.

The artificially refrigerated potato storage house is confined practically to the storage of northern grown seed potatoes held in cold storage for seed crop planting in the South. It is thought that community cold-storage plants of this type could be profitably used by the southern truck growers.

PREVENT WASTAGE ON FARMS

Among Other Things There May Be Spots That Wash, That Overflow or Are Poorly Drained.

Look out for the waste places on the farm. Some of these may be on fields that wash; some may be on the overflowed bolls; some, the poorly drained places. The barnyard manure may be wasting; the implements being left out in the weather to deteriorate. The waste may be in trying to do with the hands what should be done with implements and machines. Look for wasted energy and wasted opportunity.

TOAD IS FRIEND OF FARMER

They Are Useful Guardians of Growing Plants and Vegetables—Devour Many Insects.

Despite its general unpopularity, the toad is a harmless, interesting and valuable creature. While the toad is often thought to be poisonous, the fluid which comes from a gland behind its eye is not harmful to human beings unless it comes in contact with a tender part of the body, such as the eye or lip. Toads change their skin periodically by splitting the old skin down the back, peeling it off like a jersey and swallowing it. They are also useful guardians of growing plants and vegetables since they eat all sorts of insects. Their chief weapon against their enemy, the snake, is their ability to inflate their bodies to twice their normal size, thus making it difficult for snakes to swallow them.

ATTENTION TO SANDY SOILS

Very Deficient in Organic Matter and Are Subject to Blowing—Straw Covering Helps.

Sandy soils are very deficient in organic matter and are subject quite seriously to blowing. If such fields are covered with straw it will prevent this damage to a great extent. It will also add considerably to the humus content by increasing the organic matter in the soil, and the soil will hold a much larger per cent of moisture. Consequently it will be far superior to a soil that is deficient in organic matter. The straw spreader is very practical.

BEST EQUIPMENT FOR GARDEN

No One Can Enjoy Work With Crude or Unsuitable Implements—Work Is Made Easy.

Garden equipment is essential for best results in making a garden. No one can enjoy work with crude or unsuitable implements. All realize how easy hard work may be with the right kind of facilities for doing it. This is true in garden work. Garden implements cost so little in comparison to their value that no one can afford to get along without them. The same may be said of farm implements and needed equipment in general.

GROWING HEALTHY CHICKENS

Among Other Things Shade, Fresh Water, Clean Coops and Ventilation Are Important.

Shade, clean, fresh water, clean coops and colony houses, and good ventilation and plenty of room during the night are of the greatest importance in growing healthy, strong, vigorous birds, whether they are for meat, eggs or breeding.

5 MERCER COUNTY FARMS 5

663 ACRES IN ALL AT AUCTION

"LAND HUNGER IS STILL UNSATISFIED."

But few farms can now be purchased either privately or at auction. This may be your last opportunity. Swinebroad is the only man in the business who has offered a series of sales in the same neighborhood, so as to give buyers an opportunity to attend and look over the different farms at the least expense.

I have refused to offer at auction almost as many farms as I have sold. Why? Because I know land values and will not offer at public sale any farm unless the owner is willing to absolutely "turn loose" or "turn loose" at a price which will justify the buyers to bid. This is one of the reasons Swinebroad always sells and the bidders fix the price. These farms are located in the very best belt in Mercer county.
